Waterstone Mortgage Corp. Hosts First-Ever Mortgage Processors Conference
Mortgage Processors from Nationwide Locations Attend

PEWAUKEE, WI (May 17, 2012) – Waterstone Mortgage Corporation is pleased to announce that nearly 60 attendees were present in Milwaukee for its first-ever conference for mortgage processors.

During the “Accelerate: Navigating the Curves With Excellence” conference on May 6-8, mortgage processors from across the country came together at the Milwaukee Hilton to receive the knowledge and support they needed to continue excelling in their roles. Waterstone Mortgage executives and management provided them with industry and department updates, as well as helpful tips and tools to assist them in streamlining their workload.

While at the conference, mortgage processors participated in a variety of social events, including a surprise “Family Feud” – style game show, complete with a professional host. In addition to social events, attendees were also treated to a presentation from Barbara Bartlein, The People Pro®, where they learned effective ways to manage stress.

“We are thrilled with the turnout and engagement we saw during this conference, and consider it a tremendous success,” said Eric Egenhoefer, President and CEO of Waterstone Mortgage. “This conference was beneficial not only to our mortgage processors, but also to our company and our customers. With the knowledge they received during the conference, we are confident that our mortgage processors will be able to take their roles to the next level and continue to provide superior levels of customer service.”
